

FLAHERTY WELCOMES TWO NEW ASSOCIATES

News February 2019

Flaherty Sensabaugh Bonasso is pleased to welcome two new associates to our Clarksburg and Morgantown offices.

Stanley A. Heflin III recently joined our Clarksburg office. Before making the decision to attend West Virginia University College of Law, Stan worked as a project manager for his family's construction company. He credits that experience for allowing him unique insight into the needs and concerns of business owners and those in the construction industry. His practice focuses on general litigation, construction law, insurance defense, employment liability and product liability.

Michael A. Secret has been practicing law since 2016 and recently joined our Morgantown office. He primarily represents clients in general civil litigation, municipal law and estate planning. Michael has successfully led clients through complex litigation matters and argued substantive motions at the summary judgment level, saving clients the expense of undergoing trial. He has also helped to guide clients through estate planning processes and commercial ventures.
